Products and Services

Glen-Gery draws on technical mastery earned through decades of experience to deliver accessories and supporting services that contribute to the success and profitability of every masonry project.

THIN SYSTEM INSTALLATION

To maximize the value of Glen-Gery's outstanding thin wall systems, Thin Tech® and StoneFit®, we provide training for designers, contractors and distributors.

Technical presentations cover all aspects of the systems in depth and hands-on training rounds out the instruction with useful, practical experience.

AIA ACCREDITED SEMINARS

AIA accredited Lunch-N-Learn seminars developed and presented by Glen-Gery experts provide a double benefit. Each one-hour session expands and reinforces the participants personal knowledge sets while helping maintain AIA certifications. Multiple subjects of serious construction and design impact, from brick selection to masonry cleaning and code compliance to sustainable design, are offered. Together they represent a body of shared expertise, providing real benefit to those in the building design and construction community. Many presentations are specifically prepared with the advanced design and construction professional in mind. Email us today to arrange your next seminar at info@glengery.com.

ON-SITE TRAINING

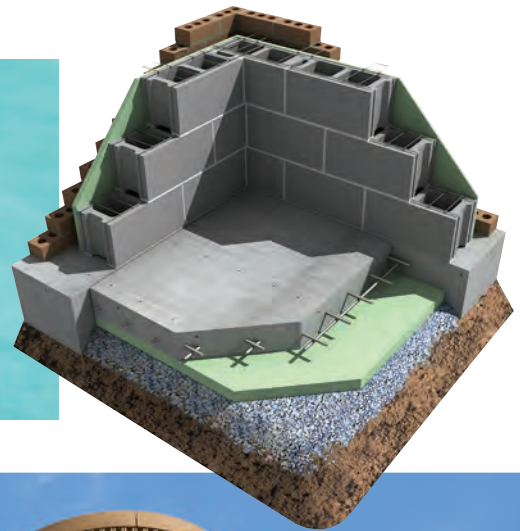

Professional training makes all the difference in learning a process or understanding a product in real-world applications. Glen-Gery provides on-site instruction at many of our locations, helping your people excel at their demanding jobs. Email us today for details.
